For Gifts That Create Memories

Dear Helene

I wanted to write to thank you for everything you have done for me and my business in building my new website.

You were the first person to send me back a quote to do my website, when many others took weeks, and some did not reply at all. One thing I can't stand is bad customer service, and I figured if these companies took weeks to answer my original request for a quote, how long were they going to take to build my website?

Right from the outset, you were obliging and nothing seemed too hard, and not only that, but your communication is outstanding. You kept me informed through the entire process of building my site, answered all of my (silly) questions, and built me a professional, functional, attractive website that I couldn't be more happy with. After only a few days on the www, business has already doubled, as have enquiries, and I know that it is due to the user-friendliness of my new website.

Please feel free to have people email me for a reference, as I more than happy to tell people the wonders you have worked for my business.

Thank you again

Kind regards

Jane Ryan
